

climate change effects

Asia's extreme April heat worsened by climate change, scientists say

Extreme temperatures throughout Asia last month were made worse - and more likely - as a result of human-driven climate change, a team of international scientists said on Wednesday.

Most Read

My niece's family spent her $47,000 life savings while she was abroad 14

Miss Grand International strips Myanmar beauty queen of second runner-up title due to misconduct

Two Southeast Asian destinations among world's 25 best places to travel in 2025

9 benefits of pineapples

Foreign tourists say shopping in HCMC cheaper than Bangkok 9

News

Ha Long Bay infested with trash following Typhoon Yagi's destruction of aquaculture farms

Storm Trami floodwaters near rooftops in central Vietnam

Villas on HCMC's golden land plot left to the elements

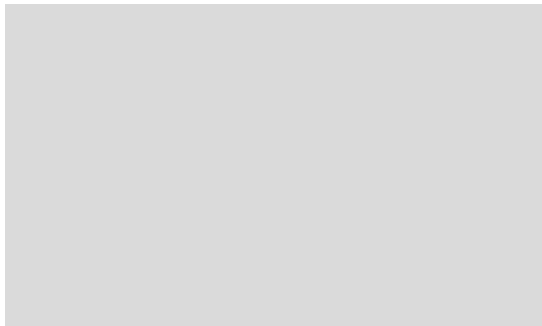

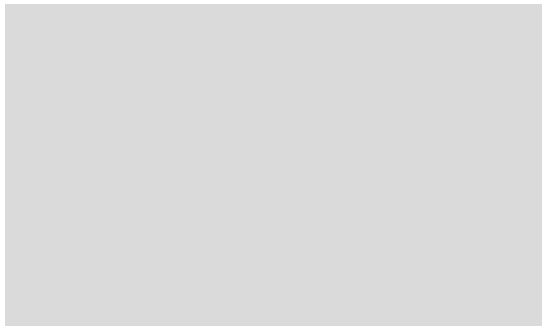

Business

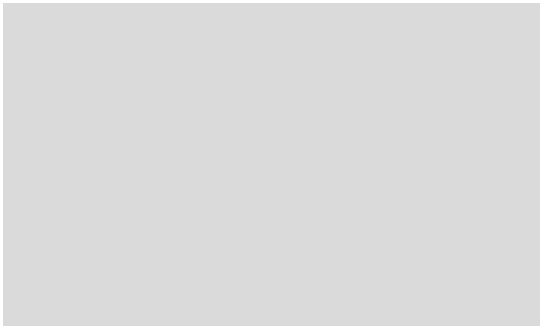

ByteDance founder Zhang Yiming jumps to top of China's rich list

Stocks climb to highest in a week

Dollar rises against dong on black market

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

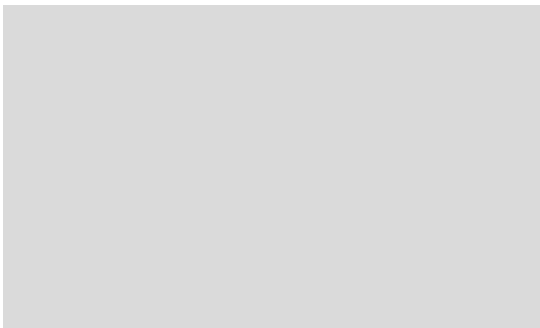

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

[Redacted text line]

